Active Aging:
How to Make Getting Older Cool
Active aging includes intellectual engagement and continued social interaction along with an overall healthy lifestyle.
Amy Temperley, owner of Aging is Cool, will discuss the 3 domains of active aging: physical health, psychological well-being and social relationships and how to live your best life.

AUGUST refreshments are to be provided by members whose last names begin G-M. Everyone else is welcome to bring something to share.

AARP NEWS
Social Security Increase

A modest, tangible piece of good news emerged from Washington, D.C., this week when the Social Security and Medicare trustees projected that Social Security recipients would receive a 2.2 percent cost-of-living adjustment (COLA) in 2018. It would be the largest increase since 2012, when the COLA rose 3.6 percent. Social Security recipients received no cost-of-living adjustment in 2016 and just 0.3 percent in 2017.

If the trustees’ projections are correct, on average, beneficiaries would receive an additional $28 a month. The Medicare Part B standard monthly premium is expected to remain unchanged. The final COLA and Medicare Part B premiums will be announced this fall.

In their 2017 annual report, the trustees echoed last year’s projection that the Social Security trust fund would be depleted in 2034 if no changes are made. They extended by five years, until 2028, the time at which the Disability Insurance (DI) program would run out of funds.

The trustees noted a recent decline in the number of DI beneficiaries and projected that future increases would be at a rate slower than that of the past 20 years.

For Medicare, the trustees moved the date at which the trust fund would be depleted, in the absence of changes, from 2028 to 2029.

We are still in need of a program chairperson who will coordinate the programs for our meetings.

Thoughts as I Say Good-bye to Another Birthday
Pat Thomas

Forget the health food. I need all the preservatives I can get.
Age doesn’t always bring wisdom. Sometimes age comes alone.
Age is an issue of Mind over matter. If you don’t mind, it doesn’t matter.
He who laughs, lasts.
I am sitting here thinking how nice it is that wrinkles don’t hurt.
Old age is when you burn the midnight oil around 9:00 PM.

AN AGE RELATED PROBLEM
(a reprinted article from WebMd)

Recently, I was diagnosed with A.A.A.D.D. – Age Activated Attention Deficit Disorder. This is how it manifests: I decide to water my garden. As I turn on the hose in the driveway, I look over at my car and decide it needs washing. As I start toward the garage, I notice mail on the porch table that I brought up from the mailbox earlier. I decide to go through the mail before I wash the car. I lay my car keys on the table, put the junk mail in the garbage can under the table, and notice that the can is full. So, I decide to put the bills back on the table and take out the garbage first. But then I think, since I’m going to be near the mailbox when I take out the garbage anyway, I may as well pay the bills first. I take my check book off the table, and see that there is only one check left. My extra checks are in my desk in the study, so I go inside the house to my desk where I find the can of coke I’d been drinking. I’m going to look for my checks, but first I need to push the coke aside so that I don’t accidentally knock it over. The coke is getting warm, and I decide to put it in the refrigerator to keep it cold. As I head toward the kitchen with the coke, a vase of flowers on the counter catches my eye—they need water. I put the coke on the counter and discover my reading glasses that I’ve been searching for all morning. I decide I better put them back on my desk, but first I’m going to water the flowers. I set the glasses back down on the counter, fill a container with water and suddenly spot the TV remote. Someone left it on the kitchen table. I realize that tonight when we go to watch TV, I’ll be looking for the remote, but I won’t remember that it’s on the kitchen table, so I decide to put it back in the den where it belongs, but first I’ll water the flowers. I pour some water in the flowers, but quite a bit of it spills on the floor. So, I set the remote back on the table, get some towels and wipe up the spill. Then, I head down the hall trying to remember what I was planning to do. At the end of the day: the car isn’t washed the bills aren’t paid there is a warm can of coke sitting on the counter the flowers don’t have enough water, there is still only 1 check in my checkbook, I can’t find the remote, I can’t find my glasses, and I don’t remember what I did with the car keys. Then, when I try to figure out why nothing got done today, I’m really baffled because I know I was busy all day, and I’m really tired. I realize this is a serious problem, and I’ll try to get some help for it, but first I’ll check my e-mail....

Think Fast

FAST is an acronym used as a mnemonic to help detect and enhance responsiveness to stroke victim needs. The acronym stands for Facial drooping, Arm weakness, Speech difficulties and Time to call emergency services.

- Facial drooping: A section of the face, usually only on one side, that is drooping and hard to move. This can be recognized by a crooked smile.
- Arm weakness: The inability to raise one's arm fully
- Speech difficulties: An inability or difficulty to understand or produce speech
- Time: If any of the symptoms above are showing, time is of the essence; call the emergency services or go to the hospital.

Try Transit
Capital Metro wants to show you how to add transit to your week!
The Austin area was largely built to facilitate automobile traffic. As a result, most of us have grown to rely on our cars to get around. But, with 150 new residents adding an extra 70 cars to our roads every day, dealing with traffic has become a normal feature of life.
This new program offered by Capital Metro was inspired by our Roll and Stroll Program. It is a program for all ages.
