Wednesday

October 21, 12:45 p.m.

Dr John Burtleson

Online via Zoom

Our next online program is Introduction to Aging and Memory. Ask the Expert About Memory Loss and Aging, by Dr John Burtleson, Neurologist at Ascension Seton. The program is scheduled for Wednesday afternoon, October 21 from 12:45 to 1:30. Program will be hosted online on Zoom with telephone access. You will receive an email with the zoom meeting information the week before the program. Please submit your questions in advance to Randy Hsi at rhsi@healthmarkets.com.

A native Texan, Dr. Bertelson completed his neurology residency at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minnesota, and his fellowship in behavioral neurology at McLean Hospital in Belmont, Massachusetts. He joined Seton in 2006.

Be a good citizen! Vote!

Early Voting

Governor Abbott has extended dates for early voting because of COVID. New dates for early voting are October 13 through October 30.

Because of COVID, you will not be able to vote in a grocery store, but a lot of new, safe locations for early voting have been added. Here is a list of early voting locations, or you can find the list at: https://countyclerk.traviscountytexas.gov/images/pdfs/polling\_locations/11.03.20/Early\_Voting\_Flyer.pdf

Vote by Mail

Request a mail in ballot at

<https://webservices.sos.state.tx.us/forms/5-15f.pdf>

You can either request it online, or print it out and mail it in. You must request an application to vote by mail by October 23. To vote by mail in Texas, you must be 65 years or older; be disabled; be out of the county on election day and during the period for early voting by personal appearance; or be confined in jail, but otherwise eligible.

If you have requested a mail-in ballot, you should receive it soon. Return it as soon as possible to ensure it is counted! If you are concerned about mailing it in, this election, Travis County voters will be able to hand-deliver their own mail-in ballots beginning October 1 to 5501 Airport Blvd, Austin, TX 78751- Tax Office drive through payment lanes between the hours 8 AM – 5 PM Monday-Friday until early voting begins.

Voters may only hand deliver their own carrier envelope, must present an acceptable form of ID, will be asked to sign a signature roster, and will then deposit their mail-in ballot into a ballot box.

To view this information and a short video on voting, go to:

<https://countyclerk.traviscountytexas.gov/elections/allot-by-mail.html>

Election Day Voting

Because of COVID, and the need to distance from each other, your usual voting location on election day may have changed. There are lots of new locations, including SASAC and the Menchaca

Public Library! You can find the list of election day voting locations at:

Voter Guide

The League of Women Voter Guide can be found at: <https://lwvaustin.org/voter-guide/>

Additional voting information from the League is at: www.VOTE411.org

UPDATE

Governor Abbott on Wednesday issued a proclamation allowing only one mail ballot drop-off location per county. Starting Friday, only the location on 5501 Airport Boulevard will be open for hand delivery from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The 700 Lavaca garages and 1010 Lavaca parking lot locations will be closed.

<https://countyclerk.traviscountytexas.gov/elections/ballot-by-mail.html>. The proclamation will surely be challenged in court.

Message from the President

Crespin Guzman

I hope all of you are doing well staying healthy and being safe. At our home we are doing fine. This month's message has a number of key points that I want to stress as being very important to our senior community.

Elections are here all across the spectrum of government from local to national and our seniors will be affected in a number of different ways! So, the point to stress is to Go Vote so you can have a voice in all matters important to you. AARP continues to advocate for us in these matters at all levels and we should respond accordingly with our vote. Please go vote!

Our Membership Programming using Zoom will continue through to the end of this calendar year. In so doing, we are planning to discuss other ways to continue engaging with our members into the next year. It is pretty apparent that we may not see face to face general membership meetings for quite a while but that does not deter the Board's efforts on your behalf. We hope that if you have any ideas on this aspect of engagement, please share them with any Board member or Committee Chair. Additionally, at the very least find a way to let us know how we are currently doing in this area. Good, bad or indifferent, we want to know.

Finally, part of our planning will include developing a budget that reflects the membership level that we can expect to operate at, so I encourage you to pay your 2021 dues. We are now working with our roster to define that number so, going forward expect to see a few messages about dues.

We want you, the members, to be part of the "reinvention" of the Chapter and its activities.

Volunteer Hours

Ed Gonzales

Total for 2020 : 3,520 Hours

Please send or email your number of volunteer hours. Look on the last page of the newsletter for the form.

Only two people turned in their hours this last month.
Note: Even if you have not submitted your volunteer hours, you may count all the hours you have volunteered since January 1, 2020 and submit the form.

Please review our previous article in the June newsletter on this subject. (You can find the newsletter at our website: <http://southaustinaarp.org>).

Many of you are probably accumulating hours and do not realize it.

- Hours spent on volunteering for a charitable organization (eg. I do not personally volunteer at the food pantry but I do all the email and reporting --those hours count)
- Attending zoom or telephone meetings related to a charitable organization or AARP board meeting.
- Collecting donations for a food pantry
- Charitable sewing, knitting,... Making masks
- Driving people/friends to doctor appointments, etc.
- Central Texas Food Bank volunteer work
- Election activities for volunteering to register people to vote; taking people to polls
- Meals on Wheels program activities

- Other charitable orgs projects related to community service like neighborhood cleanups, cemetery cleanups, Habitat for Humanity, Big Brothers/Sisters,etc.
- Mentoring/Tutoring students in academic work
- Delivering food, Helping neighbors, Community Garden work
- Making census calls
- Participating on phone banks, AARP webinars, ASAC Activities online
- Writing stories for the Chapter newsletter

Please turn in your volunteer hours. The form is at the end of the newsletter and may be emailed or mailed.

Travel

Mario Macaluso

Coping with the Coronavirus

Although Covid-19 has disrupted our daily routine and limited our freedom to move freely and assemble we must try not to surrender to fear and isolation. We must keep our sanity and cultivate our wellbeing as we face this invisible enemy.

I like to share with you what I have been doing to help myself physically and psychologically during these trying times.

1. Realize that we have a mind that needs to be fed by positive feelings. Harboring or feeding on habitual negative feelings creates unhealthy, depressing emotions which affect our physical wellbeing. "A healthy mind in a healthy body," the Romans used to proclaim.

2. Make an effort to think positive of ourselves. We are precious and valuable persons. "God does not make junk." Let us appreciate and nurture our preciousness daily by looking at all our good qualities and good deeds we have done in your life.

3. Cultivate our friendship with family and friends. When we feel lonely, alone or isolated, it is beneficial to us to write a letter, make a call, send a text, talk to another human being. We are social animals and need people around to feel connected and complete.

4. Fight idleness by learning or doing something new every day. Try something that will stimulate your mind and body. Try something new by working on projects that feed our psyche. It is very satisfying when we complete a task such as baking a cake, painting a piece of furniture, doing oil painting, writing poetry, cleaning a closet, gardening, updating important files, learning a world language, doing crossword puzzles, learning to play a musical instrument... etc. . It is essential to cut our umbilical cord with programs that bombard us with depressing news all day long.

5. Cultivate our faith or sense of sacredness. Let us not feed the body alone. Our psyche needs comfort and healing. It is heartwarming to choose a spot in our house where we go to meditate, to read a holy or inspirational book, to listen to spiritual music, to think in silence and to connect with the divine. Praying in our own way throughout the day for ourselves and others will lift our mind and spirit and free us from loneliness and isolation.

6. Make the decision when negative thoughts come our way and feel lonely, isolated or discouraged, to let them go by replacing them with plenty of good memories. Good memories make us feel special and fortunate; they define our identity and sum up our life. Think of times when someone made us happy or you made them happy. Call or write to let them know how they influenced your life or spoke a word that changed your life.

7. Practice gratitude often. Gratitude is "the quality of being thankful, to show appreciation and to return kindness to neighbors, friends and to anyone who is kind to you."

8. Do physical exercises daily, walk indoors if we have room or walk outside near the house if we can do it safely and according to local guidance. Let us not sit on the couch for hours, but stretch, eat our meals at scheduled times, take care of our health and keep safe.

9. Remember that behind dark clouds there is still a shining sun. In time Covid-19 will be defeated and conquered and we will be able to feel free at last.

Capital Metro Project Connect

This proposition was described at our August Zoom Meeting

NOTE: This article is for your information. Chapter 2426 does not endorse any political candidates or propositions.

"Initial Investment"

The Initial Investment is based on the Project Connect System Plan and includes an all-electric bus fleet, a new rail system, a downtown transit tunnel and an expanded bus system with more routes. A ballot measure for the Project Connect Initial Investment will be on the November 3rd 2020 ballot.

The Initial Investment includes:

Expanded Bus Service

Increased service, 9 new Park & Rides, 4 new MetroRapid routes, 3 new MetroExpress routes and 15 new neighborhood circulator zones.

MetroRapid

4 new MetroRapid routes provides frequent service with a limited number of stops. New corridors would include:

The Gold Line - from ACC Highland to Republic Square. (The Gold Line would begin as a MetroRapid service and could be converted eventually to light rail as a part of the System Plan.)

Expo Center - from East Austin to UT and downtown

Pleasant Valley - from Mueller to the Goodnight Ranch Park & Ride

Burnet - from The Domain to Menchaca and Oak Hill

MetroExpress

3 new MetroExpress commuter routes. Providing limited-stop service for commuters:

Four Points - from FM 620 to downtown

Oak Hill - from the Pinnacle Park & Ride to downtown

South MoPac - from the Wildflower Center to downtown

Park & Rides

9 new Park & Rides and 1 Transit Center:

Four Points

Loop 360

ACC Highland

Delco Center

Expo Center

Wildflower Center

Goodnight

McKinney Falls

MetroCenter

Eastside Bus Plaza Transit Center

15 new neighborhood zones for Circulators.

On-demand pickup and drop-off to locations within certain neighborhoods. Provides first-mile/last-mile service connections to transit stations and other destinations.

Anti-Displacement Measures

The Initial Investment includes $300 Million for anti-displacement measures, the largest investment of its kind in a transit-related election. A portion of this funding would go toward transit-oriented developments and affordable housing along Project Connect routes.

A new rail system would serve North and South Austin, the airport, downtown and Colony Park.

A transit tunnel downtown would separate rail from traffic to improve on-time performance.

Initial Investment Sequence Plan

The Initial Investment in Project Connect is $7.1 billion with nearly half of the costs expected to be supported by federal grants and commitments

Proposition A Financial and Tax Bill Impact

The City of Austin is one of multiple taxing entities to which property owners pay property taxes annually. Approval of Proposition A would dedicate 8.75 cents of the City’s property tax rate revenue to the Austin Transit Partnership to fund implementation of Project Connect. If approved by voters, the Project Connect portion of the City’s property tax rate would become part of the City’s property tax rate each year.

For the typical Austin homeowner, the tax bill for all taxing jurisdictions is based on a tax rate of $2.16 per $100 of value. If approved by voters, Proposition A will increase the tax rate by 8.75 cents, or approximately 4%; the impact on total tax bill is also approximately 4%. (See chart below)

Home Value	Anticipated Annual Impact	Anticipated Monthly Impact
$250,000	$219	$18.23
$325,000	$284	$23.70
$500,000	$438	$36.46
$750,000	$656	$54.69

Those in favor of the proposition state:

Voting for Proposition A would approve the City’s property tax rate and dedicate 8.75 cents of the operations and maintenance portion of the tax rate for Project Connect, Capital Metro’s $7.1 billion public transit plan. Approving the proposition would ensure that the initial investment of Project Connect is completed, according to the City.

The City is expecting to receive federal funding for approximately 45% of the project’s total cost. Capital

Metro will also allocate its Capital Expansion Fund to the project.

If Proposition A is passed, the property tax revenue would provide the rest plus operations and maintenance of the transit system once it is built, according to the City. Also included in the initial investment is $300 million for anti-displacement housing strategies.

If approved by voters, the dedicated property tax revenue, along with CapMetro revenue and the anticipated federal funding, would be directed to a new independent government organization called the Austin Transit Partnership. That organization would oversee, finance and implement Project Connect.

Those in opposition of the proposition say:

<https://ourmobilityyourfuture.com/>

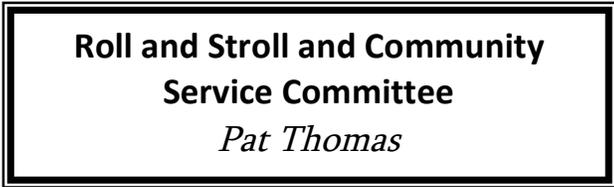

We have nothing to gain, personally or otherwise, from rejecting Project Connects rail plan. We simply believe Austin could be better served by smarter investments and New Mobility solutions. Nearly ten billion dollars is an unprecedented spend for our community, let's move forward - not backwards.

Proposition B

Voting for Proposition B would approve $460 million in property tax-supported general obligation bonds for transportation infrastructure like sidewalks, bikeways, urban trails, safe routes to schools, substandard streets and transportation safety projects such as Vision Zero.

A thoughtful article from the Roll & Stroll Committee.

This article is a modified excerpt from a new book, "The Senior Years Master Plan" by Ralph Mroz. The full article can be found on the following web page: www.nextavenue.org "Next Avenue" was created by PBS and contains helpful information for seniors. The following article is modified because of space limitations.

The Disadvantages of Aging in Place. What to keep in mind before committing to staying where you are.

Surveys show that most people would prefer to grow older, and die, in their own home. This desire isn't hard to understand. While you may have already downsized to a more manageable home. Aging in place lets you remain in your familiar surroundings, close to friends and possibly family. And there are other advantages. But there's a flip side to aging in place that needs to be considered.

*You may have to move again if you can't be adequately cared for in your home, and it'll be much harder when you are older and in worse health. You may have to consider moving closer to your children in a distant city.

*You can become isolated, especially if you can no longer drive.

*Caregiving help can get expensive and hard to find if you need it.

*If you have mobility problems, it's easy to be mostly confined to your home.

*Your home may become a burden, with its continual needs for maintenance and upkeep.

It's easy to think that aging in place will be less costly than moving to a retirement community or assisted living. But this reasoning overlooks that your stay-at-home costs will increase, because you will need more care as you age.

Let's think about some of the disadvantages of aging in place.

1. Handling sudden health declines. Your aging in place plan may be going well if you've made the appropriate home modifications, you're getting the help that you need and you're doing fine. Then something happens. It can occur suddenly which means you need a significantly higher level of care. Do you have the energy or perhaps competence to manage the transition yourself? Friends and family may be too old or infirm themselves to help.

2. You'll need repairs on the house but do you have the money for them. .

3. You're dependent on your spouse or partner. If you are aging in place as a couple, you may depend on one of you to be more competent in a given area. One person may be good with repairs and cooking, the other with financial and medical issues. But when one half of an aging couple dies or declines significantly, the affairs they handled must be able to be picked up by the remaining partner. Since that might not be possible, you need a plan in place to backfill for the missing person's competence.

4. You may decline mentally. Mental and cognitive decline as we age is inevitable, although it will affect some severely and some not as much. If you live alone, this kind of decline could become dangerous or unhealthy. You might not remember to take your meds or eat well.

My advice for people as they reach age 65 to have a plan and discuss it with their partner. Assess the probability of needing to make a residence change or make home modifications. You'll likely need modifications to compensate for the inevitable physical limitations you'll accumulate. Everyone knows about installing shower grab bars and entrance ramps and eliminating slip and fall hazards. But less obvious things include installing lever-style doorknobs and more and brighter lighting.

This message is a reminder that now is the time to make a plan and look forward to living well in your current home or downsize for a safer future.
